

Richmond Offers 105-foot Princess Sarah for Sale

Taken in trade against the sale of the yard's hull number four, the 142-foot Status Quo, ex Princess Sarah is offered for sale by Richmond Yachts.

NorthStar Yachts launched the 105-foot (32-meter) tri-deck yacht in 2004. The Jack Sarin design is realized in fiberglass and is powered by a pair of 1,400-hp Caterpillar 3412 engines to a top speed of 22 knots and a 16-knot cruise speed.

Features include: Four staterooms and accommodations for up to 6 crew in three separate cabins. There is also a separate crew mess and lounge area forward. There are entertainment systems in all cabins as well as the salon and skylounge, decorator lighting and plumbing fixtures, granite countertops and cherry hardwood joinery.

The pilothouse electronics features include: Five Micro Commander control stations, Furuno 72-mile radar and a 48-mile NavNet Combo radar, GPS, plotter and a Simrad/Robertson AP50 autopilot.

There are two Northern Lights 55-kW generators and they are shielded with an upgraded sound abatement package. There is also a Northern Light 16-kW generator and two 4,000 watt inverters.

Launching in July Richmond's hull five, the 142-foot Richmond Lady, is also offered for sale.

Located in Fort Lauderdale Princess Sarah is offered at U.S. $8,500,000.
